Granite State Designers and Installers Association

Since 1986, Granite State Designers and Installers Association (GSDI) has served as a statewide trade organization of septic system designers, installers, evaluators, pumpers, land use consultants, and governmental agency in New Hampshire. The Association provides a strong, positive voice for the septic system industry and land use matters here in New Hampshire. You, too, should become a part of this growing organization!

Some of Our Member Benefits:

The News Brief

NEWS BRIEF, the Association's bi-monthly newsletter, is filled with the latest news about the industry, changes in laws and rules, and notes about persons and events of interest to those working in the septic system industry. It is highly respected both inside and outside our membership and is referred to often by those looking to keep current on industry happenings around the state.

A Useful Website

An informative and expanded website for both members and the general public. Many direct links to other sites used by the industry. Visit www.gsdia.org.

Extensive Educational Programs

The Association's extensive educational programs present regular workshops and conferences on a wide variety of topics including, but not limited to, alternative systems, hydric soils, wetlands, replacement of failed systems, proper installation and maintenance, etc. These programs provide continuing education credits.

Free Referral Service

Our website provides free referral of dues-paid member septic installers, designers, evaluators and pumpers to interested consumers.

Making Changes

GSDI monitors and proactively works on proposed changes to state laws and regulations affecting the septic system industry to protect the interests of its members and to improve and protect the environment. Your voice, support and participation aid in this effort.

Dealing with Environmental Matters

GSDI has representation on major boards and commissions dealing with environmental matters and is active in most deliberations having a potential impact upon its members.

Scholarships

GSDI awards two scholarships annually. Applicants must be an active GSDI member or an immediate family member. The Robert Woodman Scholarship is given to a high school student or adult learner planning to attend a four- or two-year degree program at an accredited college or technical school. The Phillip Beland Scholarship is given to a post-secondary student currently enrolled in a degree or certificate program.

Government Relations

GSDI maintains active communication with legislators, regulators, governmental agencies, other trade and professional groups, and the general public on matters affecting the septic industry. GSDI has an active liaison committee that works with the NHDES Subsurface Bureau and other NHDES divisions to address issues of concern to our membership.

Annual Septic System Conference

The annual septic system conference and trade show features speakers on key industry topics and displays of the latest systems and products available to the industry while providing continuing education credits.
