

Septic System Recordkeeping File and Owner's Guide

Revised & Redesigned!

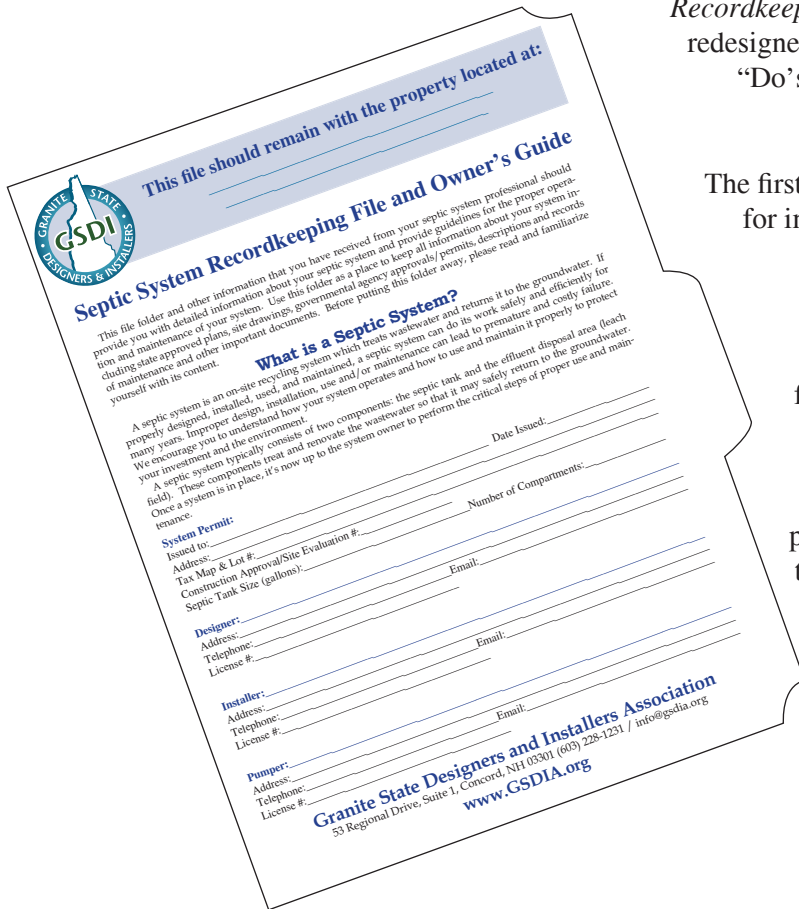

Granite State Designers and Installers Association's Septic System Recordkeeping File and Owner's Guide has been completely revised and redesigned, including a fresh look and more up-to-date reminders about "Do's" and "Don'ts" to help homeowners protect the longevity and performance of their on-site septic systems.

The first printing of the new file folders has arrived and they are ready for immediate shipment or pick up at the GSDI offices in Concord.

The file folders remain the same convenient size, allowing the user to store them easily with other important system-related paperwork. For the busy septic system professional, the file folders offer an attractive way to present system proposals and plans to clients.

Designers and installers have also found them useful as a public relations tool to introduce themselves as local experts in the industry. Space is provided on the folder for customization with your own company contact information.

Town offices, lake and community/homeowner associations, and environmental organizations concerned with water quality continue to find the folders of great value as an educational tool to increase public awareness of the importance of maintaining a properly working septic system.
